THE LIVERPOOL MAGES.

LONDON, July 14.—This was the second day of the Laverpool July meeting. Leopold De Rothschild's six-year-old bay horse, Middlethorp, and A. Adenholm's five-year-old bay mare, Perdita II., ran a dead heat for the Liverpool cup, about one and one-half miles. W. Gilbert's six-year-old bay horse, The Sailor Prince, was third. There were fourteen starters. The last betting was four to one against Perdita II, and ten to one against The Sailor Prince. The Duke of Beaufort's five-year-old gray horse, paid $11.80.

Brilfast, July 14.—Policeman Gardner is dead. The police garrison has been largely increased. The wreckage caused by the rioting of yesterday, resembles the results of a tornado. Men, women and children were struck down, and, bruised and bleeding, still uttered cries of defiance and threats of revenge. The Protestants were beaten by sheer numbers.

New York, July 14.—"The only feature of freight shipments to the Pacific coast just now," said a railroad man this morning, "is the enormous quantity of bagging going forward. It has been represented to us that a syndicate was formed in San Francisco for the purpose of locking up all bagging material in California in view of the unprecedented wheat crop. They have evidently exhausted the supply out there, for hundreds of tons are being shipped from the East, and if I am not mistaken bagging is being imported from England and Scotland at a very low cost for the purpose of breaking the syndicate above Breaking the Bag Corner

Mayor Thom, despairing of even the ghost of a show with anyons ease.

After a considerable time of dubious ness, it now seems to be conceded that the Democrats will nominate J. D. Lynch, of the Herald, for Congress. This is explained by prominent Democrats in a words and figures about as follows:

"Funny nomination? Oh, yes, it is. But then you see this is going to be an off year for us, at least in the congressional race; we can't elect a congressman, and we don't expect to. But Joe has wanted the place for a long time, and needs to have a chance to satisfy himself. We'd sooner see him get it in the neet than some better man. We wouldn't sacrifice such a man as Dell Valle, for instance. Strength in the party? Of course not! But hopeless of electing a Democratic congressman anyhow, many who could not be induced to support Joe if he had a ghost of a chance will vote to make him the necessary victum and laugh to see him get his bay-window in a sling."

It is intimated that Risk. P. C. Budinger has the she lights, arreated for making an assault upon her with a hatchet, on the 13th instant. She is under $500 bail to appear before Justice Ranney on the 2d.

It is stated that Mrs. Budinger, in irrigating her grass, let the water run over inth Mrs. Britton's lot, which is lower. Mrs. Britton's lot, which is lower. Mrs. Britton's lot, which is lower. It is intimated that Sidney Laoy has ordered a full suit of boiler-iron, and will wear it under his shirt hereafter, whenever he appears in public. The whynese thereof is that his soute ear has caught the aqueak of grindstones in secluded corners, and his eagle eye has caught the glitter of several knives sharpened to a most cordial edge. The cause of this whetting, as told on good Damocratic authority, is that Sidney had two friends, one of whom yearned to be Register of the Land Office here, while the other sighed for the Collectorship of the Port of San Pedro; both are prominent Democrats, and have strong claims on the party; some time ago, Laoy made a pligrimage to Washington; to bring home the Postmastership of Los Angeles in his bosom pocket. It is related, however, that he couldn't make "Cleve" see the point of turning out the man who has worked such wonders in the Los Angeles postoffice; and that, despairing of picking Green fruit, Laoy climbed for riper, knifed his two friends, and pocketed the Land Office plum for himself. It is declared that he has "a dead sure thing" to be Register; but that more knives will be instinuated under his fifth rib than a Hindoo juggler could swallow in a month.

In the neute form there is a sense of tightness or pressure across the chest, with considerable wheeling, severe cough and expectoration. This is at first a white glairy mucous, which after a time becomes purulent.
